Great Job Whitney! I really enjoyed it. You conveyed necessary information well and eliminated unnecessary fluff. Your ideas were expressed clearly and there were ample resources provided to further facilitate learning. I'll listen to you lecture any time!

Paid attention to questions and answered them thoroughly. Encouraged students to let her know if her answers did not make sense or were not sufficient.

She was super enthusiastic and engaging. She is really great about explaining things in terms that are easy to understand and really giving the main points. Her timing was great as far as how long her presentations took and the case study assignment was a good way to use what we'd learned in the powerpoints. She made sure to walk around the classroom and make sure that groups were doing ok with the case. She's overall a great instructor and should definitely consider teaching in the future! Awesome job!

Whitney is a great teacher. I have always enjoyed having you in class including in Neuro I and rounds. The material is already well organized and easy to follow but you highlighting the important points makes it even more digestible. The objectives and navigator aspect of the presentation are a great guide for learning. To only be a student, you speak as if you are a seasoned clinician and are similarly able to offer suggestions in theory and technique. You will make an awesome teacher one day... keep up the great work! Also, the case study really helped tie everything together.

Whitney's presentation was extremely organized and well presented. I like how it broke down all aspects of care, but then focused in on PT and rehab, all of which was tied together well with the case study.

I also liked that we wrote out our intervention, goals, and outcomes on the board and then talked about them- seemed more organized and easier to remember than just shouting out during a discussion.

Introduction- that you aren't an expert but you can speak to listed experiences

Organization: navigation bar and highlighting important information (thank you)

Tip on goal writing

Great momentum with frequent breaks catered to my attention span and helped me optimally absorb information

Catering to both visual and verbal learners

Talking through case instead of having to read it before hand

It was great! I can't really think of how it could be better. Maybe she could have 3 cases and allow us to be exposed to a few different MS cases to work with different types.

More videos of patient cases maybe? Good, otherwise

More patient videos
Less time for case write up- maybe assign one group goals, another interventions, and another outcome measures

What are the strengths of this instructor?

I liked how the main points were really emphasized and focused on. I appreciate a lot of info being provided, but we didn't have to go in depth to everything. I really like the separation of what PT can do and how we are involved. Was the perfect length and pace. I like the quicker pace to stay engaged and wasn't dragged out to lose focus.

Great examples, liked the slides with words and pictures/diagrams for both types of learners, knowledgeable, confident, helpful, easy to speak with

The powerpoints were very well organized, and I appreciated the slides that showed which direction we were going into next. I also liked how she had the necessary information on the slides in addition to other information in case we were interested in learning more. We were provided with a lot of great resources, both from the MS society and papers. I liked the pace of the presentation, it felt concise and there was enough detail.

The slides were VERY easy to understand and super easy to navigate.

Gave ideas for interventions.

Good speed, but maybe could have slowed down just a bit.

distills essential concepts very well

How could this material be improved?

I liked the specific interventions- maybe more maybe more vids or pics with people with people that have MS for people who haven't seen it that much just to see the range of presentations we could see as a way to combat the "it depends" "it can vary"

Smaller groups for the case study (3-4 people). ~10 is just too many in this situation and limited our ability to solidify our ideas easily.

More case related scenarios. For example, when talking about strength and aerobic exercise, I would've liked to know typical reps and sets used. This would've been a good place for patient examples.

I liked how efficient you went through your powerpoint but it may have been slightly fast.

Pace. Slow down a little bit and very tempo

What are the strengths of this instructor?

You were very well organized, and clearly prepared to speak on this subject. You were concise and to the point. Wonderful job!

Great slide presentation that was easy to follow, organized well, and highlighted the most important things to take away from each section. She answered all questions well and provided many resources to use in the future to find more information or clarification about the topics. The case study was helpful to work thru and help figure out how to treat this population since I have no previous experience with it.

Very clear and EFFICIENT with use of time. No "filler" or garbage talk.

I was engaged the whole time and thoroughly enjoyed having Whitney teach us. :)

You did an excellent job presenting the material in a concise yet thorough manner. You didn't spend too much time on one slide, making it easier to stay mentally alert and active throughout the entire presentation. You gave adequate rest breaks, which are always greatly appreciated :), you organized the material in a fun and creative way, and I like the visual slides in addition to the original slide layout. It was evident that you know your material, and you spoke clearly and loud enough for all to hear.

Overall, awesome job!

How could this material be improved?

Honestly it went really well. I will need to look the material over again, but it was so well organized it allowed me to pay attention rather than scrambling around trying to write down notes and barely understanding what the professor was talking about.

Maybe having a couple more videos during the presentation to make it more "real" would be beneficial.

But awesome work!

I would have liked to see some video examples of people with MS to see what a typical presentation would look like and what treatment looks like. It would have also been helpful to discuss reasonable expectations for improvement with PT intervention for those of us who have not seen this in clinic.

I know you say you appreciate critiques, but I honestly would not change anything. Awesome job!

What are the strengths of this instructor?

The instructor was very knowledgeable and presented material in a fluid manner that was easy to absorb.

I really enjoyed how organized and informative this lecture was. It flowed really well and questions were answered fully and concisely. At first I thought you were talking really fast but I never felt like I was getting behind or overwhelmed so it worked out well that we were able to get through the content efficiently but effectively. I like how there were outlines for the topics being covered and repetition within the power points to hammer home the important points. The infographics were informative and useful and the pictures created some humor. Overall, I think you were an excellent lecturer and really it seems very natural for you. Future professor perhaps?

Extremely passionate about the subject matter. She kept at a good pace and didn't allow for us to lose interest! I think she would make a great Professor.

She was attuned to the energy in the room and employed effective methods of engaging the audience. She gave good real-world examples and allowed time for us to work through a case to help apply the information we learned. She spoke clearly, effectively, and confidently. She provided ample resources for further reading as well as patient education materials that are useful and relevant.

Encouraged questions and discussion

Engaging presenter!

Powerpoints were very informative but concise!

Case study at the end was helpful

Breaks are always helpful :)

Specific PT powerpoint as well as a general powerpoint

Answered all questions well

How could this material be improved?

Overall presentation was excellent, if I had to change something I would maybe add video of specific treatment for specific deficits or divide up to tackle multiple cases with specific objectives for each case to get a broader range of what you might see with MS patients.

really nothing to add or improve :)

no improvements necessary.

I can't imagine, maybe having more case examples that we talk through before trying one.

Maybe go through resources (MS society) a bit more and materials we can give to patients? Great job, though!!

What are the strengths of this instructor?

How could this material be improved?

Whitney was very organized and engaging. She managed to convey a lot of material without being overwhelming.

I would recommend smaller groups for the group assignment (5vs 10 maybe?)

She presents material clearly and efficiently and provides resources for students to look through. Provides adequate rest breaks.

Either educate beforehand or work with the class to formulate goals for a MS patient.

Whitney was a very effective instructor. The educational materials were extremely beneficial. I enjoyed the pace, interactive activities and way that she highlighted important information. Great presentation!!
